

This bicentennial mitten tree, decorated by Carol Barton and librarian Jeanne Jensen, will be just one of the many interesting displays of handmade articles featured at the Harvest Festival this Saturday, Nov. 15. The Lansing Bicentennial Commission is hosting this festival of antiques, handicraft demonstrations, and homemade goodies at the Nathan Hale gym, 19055 Burnham, from 10 a.m. to p.m. Tickets are $1 for adults and seniors and children are free.
